

Kim Frederickson: We're strong.

February 19, 2010

The "final offer" is a disgrace. It reflects badly on both SAHO and the Saskatchewan government.

My only satisfaction is thinking the next election could be before our contract is settled. It means I won't have to worry about the Sask Party and its garbage affecting our health care lives. We're strong. We're one. And we won't be bullied around.
