

Kathy Buckingham: Quit pushing unreasonable issues and get on with it
March 2, 2010

SAHO:

I disagree with your proposal in regards to having relief staff work under a multi-site facility. This is an unreasonable expectation; for the extreme distance to travel in our health region. This is very unfair to all staff.

Home care working split shifts is a step backwards. Do you truly want people to work in Home care? If you do not then be unreasonable and push this issue.

Joint Job Evaluation is a fair process, we need equal representation. This should not be government driven. This should have been completed five years ago. Get on with it and get this done.

Sincerely
