

Dear CUPE Health Care Council:

I am a health care worker employed with the PAPHR. I feel that the latest SAHO "Take it or leave it" offer is an insult to health care workers in the province of Saskatchewan.

Members of the Health Care unions provide valuable services to the people of Saskatchewan and are an important part of the Health Care Team.

We deserve a fair increase in wages in keeping with the cost of living. We also deserve long service recognition.

We should not be expected to make the concessions that SAHO has outlined for us including being transformed to multi-sites and losses of seniority rights.

It's sad that the Sask party government tells us our province is leading the economy in Canada and we are being offered an insulting wage increase by SAHO that does not compare with what other provinces offer their workers.

I hope that SAHO will reconsider their ultimatum and get back to working on a fair agreement with Health Care Workers in Saskatchewan.
